"Never Again," Says Hull, "Will Voters Be Duped By Doctrine of Republican Prosperity."

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Indianapolis, Ind., February 16 .-The democratic congressional campaign in the widdle west was opened here tonight by Chairman Hull, of the national committee, with an address in which he declared "aimless ness and inaction" to be the controling policy of the republican adminis-

Speaking before the Indiana Dem cratic Editorial association, Chairma Hull asserted that republican leaders with all their falsehoods exposed and all their promises broken" were pur-suing "a rudderless course while the ple continue to cry out for relief." Lodges, the Newberrys and those of party are having their frequent political belshazzer feasts in the nation's capital."

The democratic chairman alluded t the arms conference at several points in his address, at one time deglaring its "proceedings and achievements" to have been "grossly exaggerated," and at another making the charge that the republican administration through the conference had "surrendered more of our national sovereignty than has been previously surrendered in more than a hundred years." Charges Deception Particular stress was laid by Mr. Hull on what he declared was the inability of the republican administra tion to cope with disturbed econ conditions and in that conn parged that republican leaders 220 deceived the people by fail my judgment," he told the

Time was, Chairman Hull said, when American voters believed "that republican administration and business prosperity go hand in hand," but he added, "never again will the American voter be duped by the false and hypocritical doctrine that republican administration means prosperity."

The democratic chairman several times referred to the address recently made by Vice President Coolidge in Indianapolis and criticised the vice president for what he described as his "egrerious blunder . . . in his cand the "Oh," said the sold what was your income down there, where the sold was a standard with the sold was a standard was a standard with the sold was a standard with the s He then proceeded to call on the vice replied the man from Atlanta. president to "give his views on the merits of the Newberry case to the American people." The largest single sub the day came from the L. W. Rogers Co., for $2,800. This sum was appropriated from the funds of the Rogers' stores and Purity markets, and is the gift of the company to Atlanta's welfare agencies. Subscriptions from the Bogers' employees are not included in this amount.

Charles Chalmers, general of the "Wildcat" division, stated that, while the efforts of the first day revealed that not enough per person was being subscribed except in a few isolgted to go over the top in this campaign either 7,000 subscription of $500 each much be obtained, or 17,500 at $100.

It was said that it was a physical impossibility for between 300 and 400 workers to make enough calls-no matter how generously they gave of their time-to raise the $175,000 which is the goal of the campaign, unless individual subscriptions were larger. The only way for the campaign to be brought to a successful conclusion by the end of the week is for everyone solicited to contribute on the basis of his or her relative earning power.

Opposes Cash Robus.

Senator Calder, of New York, in a formal statement, openly advocates diseard of the cash payment idea.

"In the present state of the nation's finances, it would in my judgment be a mistake to pay a cash bonus," said Calder. "A cash bonus, if paid, would do little good, for it would be disbursed in small installments over a period of years."

Calder expressed hope veterans would agree with this position, and said he would favor paid-up insurance.

Senator Smoot, of Utah, who made repeated and ineffectual attempts to have the sales tax adopted in the general revenue bill, was highly pleased at Harding's recommendation.

"I have always favored a sales tax, so of course I am in favor of the president's suggestion," said Smoot. "As for the possibility of delay, I do not believe there enough votes to accomplish this. With the election approaching, the majority of the members of congress will want the bonus, Nor do I believe that the cash payments can be eliminated. I don't know whether the sales tax can be passed, by if it is not, there will be no bonus."

Edge Wants Sales Tax. Senator Edge, of New Jersey rought "It would be worth the price of the bonus to get the sales tax on the statute books as a means of rais-

Opposition was expressed by Senator Capper, of Kansas, leader of the farm bloe.

"I am unalterably opposed to a sales tax," said he, "and I do not believe that the president's proposal can be put through congress. I would favor returning to the excess profits tax. At the same time I am strongly in favor of a bonus."

Realizes, Difficulty.

It is fully realized how great is the difficulty which confronts the con-gress in solving this difficult problem. I am aware the strong sentiment in congress in fayor of this adjusted compensation. I have spoken approvingly myself, always with the reservation that the bestowal shall be made when it may be done without such injury to the country as will nullify the ben-"It is not an agreeable thing to

Further, excessive borrowing would likely undo all that has been accomplished in readjusting interest rates and establishing the financial world, both vitally essential to the resumption of industrial and commercial activities.

Granting that it is not fair to oppose any proposed plan without offering a substitute, let me repeat that I believe the American people will accept the levy of a general sales tax to meet the proposed bonus payments, and we should contribute thereby no added difficulties to the problems of readjustment. If congress will not adopt such a plan, it would be wise to let the legislation go over until there is a situation which will justify the large containes, we are pushing the disposition of surplus war property, and have other transactions under consideration which ought to prove a great relief to the federal treasury. It is not consistent to enact legislation in anticipation of these things, but it would be a prudent plan to await the developments, and I can see in such a postponement, no lack of regard for the service men in whom all the American people are so genuinely interested.

"I then sent for the chief of police. I also asked the Salvation Army to look after the girl, but they referred me to a local travelers' aid organization which was being conducted in Chattanooga by the Methodist deaconesses. The chief of police came in person within ten minutes after the man had registered, as well as a little woman from the deaconess society. The former apprehended the man, and the latter took the girl to the local Y. W. C. A., where she was given some sound advice and sent back home.

Variations of Incident. "Finally I called on the secretary of the Atlanta Y. W. C. A., who was then Miss Daisy Eckert, now Mrs. J. O. Bagwell, and talked the matter over with her. We prepared a tentative constitution which I submitted to a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. forces at Asheville. There I learned that Orin C. We immediately joined forces, with the result that in 1917 the National Travelers' Aid society was formed in New York city. Mrs. W. E. Mansfield, one of Atlanta's most prominent civic works. Mr. Steele, in pointing out what value the Travelers' Aid society has been to America, stated that, according to the police records of the city of Chicago, more than 5,000 girls were lost during the world's fair in 1894. In St. Louis, during the fair of 1904, even more unprotected girls disappeared. But in San Francisco, at the Panama-Pacific fair, in 1914, not a single girl was reported lost. This was due to the fact that the Travelers' Aid had been organized.

Another fact brought out by Mr. Steele was that 1,700 immigrant girls were lost in one year, before the Travelers' Aid was functioning on a national basis, between ports of entry and Chicago.

Their so-called 'best minds' in profession have become mollycoddles in performance. In 1919, intolerant and inflated republicans cried, 'oh, for a Root or a Lodge at Versailles.' Grounds for Appeal.

Grounds for Appeal.

In appealing the case the power company contends that the order of the railroad commission reducing the gas rate is "erroneous, unjust, prejudicial and confiscatory."

The power company sets forth sixteen assignments of error in its petition. The company claims that an enhancement of value of its properties since 1914 amounting to $2,500,000 was not allowed by the commission in fixing its valuation. The company claimed the special tribunal erred in adopting the state commission's formula of valuation. It also claimed the tribunal erred in excluding the special franchise value in fixing a valuation.

The company contended further that its allowance for working capital was fixed too low by the commission. It contended that the special tribunal, in refusing to allow an amortization of alleged losses of $1,025,514.38 shained in the years 1917 to 1920, inclusive, had confiscated this sum. The company claimed further that the original cost of financing was an element that should be considered. It claimed its "going concern" value was greater than allowance for depreciation was too low, the company contended, and it claimed that the rate of $1.55 a thousand feet would, return only 5.1 per cent on the commission valuation of $5,250,000.

The claim was made by the company in its appeal that the present valuation of its gas properties including special franchise and cost of financing is $9,000,000, and that the rate ordered by the commission allows only a return of 2.3 per cent on this sum.

Statement by Arkwright.

In discussing the appeal President Arkwright, of the power company, issued the following statement:

"There are questions of law involved in the decision of the United States supreme court which are vital, and it is to the interest of the public and the company that these questions be finally determined by the United States supreme court.

"For this reason the company has appealed the case to the United States supreme court.

Removal Ordered Of Negro President Of Veteran School

Washington, February 16.—Immediate removal of W. J. Hale, negropresident of the Tennessee Agricultural and Industrial institute at Nashville, against whom charges of extortion of former soldier inmates of the institution have been made, has been ordered, Director Forbes, of the veterans bureau, announced today.

Director Forbes' announcement was made after a conference with President P. L. Harned, of the Tennessee board of education; Professor J. B. Brown, state superintendent of public instruction, and C. L. Marshall, in connection with charges that Hale had been lending money on a 10 percent basis to the negro inmates of the institution on the security of their compensation checks.

Colonel Forbes said that he had informed members of the board of education that, if within 24 hours from their return to Nashville, Hale had not been removed from office, would take every trainee out of the

Mr. Moody, who was 35 years of age, and who had been in bad health for the past two months, left his home last Tuesday morning, stating that he was going to visit one of his daughters. When he failed to return home that night; relatives and friends became apprehensive and instituted a search which ended Wednesday morning when one of his sons, Will Moody, and A. J. Gray came across his lifeless body in an open field, and by his side a pistol. Every indication was that the man had taken his own life some time the day before.

Mr. Moody is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minty Moody; five sons, Will, Allen, Everett, Henry and Conley Moody; four daughters, Mrs. Virgil Hice, Mrs. Ola Gantt, Mrs. Irene Holmes and Miss Minnie Moody.

The law was called to Mr. Mellon's attention, officials said, when he was considering the invitation of President Harding to join the cabinet. A number of legal authorities were consulted, it was declared, who gave it as their opinion that the mere ownership of stock in corporoations did not constitute engaging directly or indirectly "in commerce or business."

Before accepting the treasury portfolio, officials said, Mr. Mellon's only active participation in business was upon the directorate of a number of banks and from these he resigned before extering Mr. Harding's cabinet. G. O. P. "ACHIEVEMENTS."

Replying to previous addresses by Senators Lodge and Mc-Cormack, expatiating upon the "achievements" of the republican administration, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, in a notable speech from the floor a few days ago, declared with emphasis, backed by the record as proof, that the American people are being "buncoed, hoodwinked and deceived" by the G. O. P. spokes-

His remarks were directed in the main to the claims of Lodge and McCormick that the success of the Washington arms limitation conference, such as it is, is a disinct triumph of the republican administration.

He was able to show from the records what every well-informed American citizen knows: That, as he expressed it, "the first concrete proposition toward disarmament was in Article 8 of the league of nations, placed there by the man the senator from Massachusetts (Lodge) maligned and found fault with:" and that the calling of the conference itself was in direct response to a resolution introduced in the senate by Senator Borah, and fought through with the united support of the democratic members, "over initial objections by Mr. Harding and republican

The democrats favored the conference, and are going to support its result because it marks a step in the direction of the objective toward which the league of nations goes the whole way.

The underlying principle in the conference treaties which are now hefore the senate is identical with the principle that lies at the heart of the league of nations-the principle which Lodge and McCormick and their republican colleagues fought when it was presented by a democratic administration, but social service. which they are now supporting, and for which they are now artfully endeavoring to make the people believe the republican administration is responsible.

Senator Harrison called atten tion to the fact that during the Harding campaign for the presidency such republican leaders as Taft, Root, Hughes, Hoover, and others, urged support for the republican ticket under the belief, from Mr. Harding's statements, that he favored 'a world association of nations' "-that is to say, the league of nations under a different name. And now, he said, the republican leaders, including the president, "are afraid to step into the shadow of the league, and that's what is damning this administration; it is because there is no settled policy, no program to follow."

"The president," he declared, "Is afraid that he might wean off some of the men in his party, and he's always trying to compromise something." This evidently is true, not only of the president, but of his partisan advisers in the senate.

They know that without a return to normal conditions of prosperity republican success in the next election will be impossible. They know that a return of prosperity must be preceded by the establishment of world-wide peace and co-operation on a permanent basis; and they know, too, that ever world-wide permanent peace is attained it must be ough application of the prinple that forms the groundwork of the league of nations. and it is a compromise to that the attainment of the league nations principle by a roundbout way and by deception-that hey are now seeking.

put patriotism and the public welfare above partisan politics, and assist in the ratification of the treaties that have evolved out of the armaments conference because the treatles are directed toward a laudable purpose.

But Senator Harrison has made it plain that those treaties shall not be used by the republicans for purposes of deceiving and buncoing the public.

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1922. IS ORGANIZED HERE

Following the general campaign in Atlanta to develop the ownership of homes by the people as a stimulant to the city's growth, employment of Atlanta workers and the general economic welfare of the community, the Loan-Bond company has been organized by J. Lewis McKoin, well known in the financial and business world of Atlanta, and will begin operations immediately.

of Atlanta, and will begin immediately.

The company plans to foster home ownership by financing the purchasing and building of homes on a practical and economical basis. Mr. McKoin declares that the company has steadfastly declined to form any alliances which might connect it with any real estate subdivision or any building or estate subdivision or any building or contracting scheme.

Its plan contemplates eliminating expense incident to placing several loans on the same piece of property, the company proposing to handle the entire financing of each home on terms of payment adapted to each individual case. It has an authorized can its least the same authorized can its least an authorized can its least and authori

BUSINESS MEN URGE SUPPORT OF RAILROAD

Gainesville, Ga., February 16 .-(Special.)—A delegation of about one undred from Gainesville, Winder. Jef ferson and other points on the Gains rille-Midland railroad went to Athens today to urge the business men there to assist in the prevention of scrapping the road, which is now in a receiver's hands.

A special train was furnished by the road and the party, headed by W. G Mealor, president of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, met a committee of the Athens chamber. It was stated that Winder gives about 60 per cent of her freight business to the Midland, and Gainesville gives it over 50 per cent, while Athens turns only her freight business to 2 per cent of her freight to this carrier. The Athens people seemed surprised at the figures and promised to have a committee to confer with 10 per cent of its shipping given the Midland, which is otherwise doomed to the scrap pile.

Suggestions to electrify the road have been made but that plan seems impracticable, and increased patronage, it is said, is the only solution.

problems.

Plans submitted by Mr. Warfield and Mr. Colpitts and by former Secretary of the interior Walter L. Fisher, of counsel for the association, involve a saving of $300,000,000 through increased efficiency by the pooling of the 2,500,000 freight cars of the railways. These economies would be made effective through a central agency for purchase, inspection, repair, rebuilding purchase, inspection, repair, rebuilding and direction of the bulk of the freigh and cirection of the bulk of the reight carrying rolling stock of the country. The National Railway Service corporation, organized by the railway security owners, which already has financed equipment for carriers under the $300,000,000 federal revolving fund, would be employed to this end.

Plans Proposed. The proposals made by Mr. War-eld contemplate co-ordination of ansportation facilities, co-operation transportation facilities, co-operation with the interstate commerce commis-sion, collaboration with the American Railway association, and consolidation of the use of railway facilities rather than consolidation of their corporate organizations at this time.

Mr. Warfield made it clear that the security owners did not ask for financial rate-making provisions in railroad legislation in 1919 and 1920 without the same time proposing methods legislation in 1919 and 1920 without at the same time proposing methods which, if adopted, would make substantial savings in railroad administration. He called attention to Secretary Hoover's suggestion for the guaranteeing by the government of equipment obligations of the railroads. He stated that if the proposals made for the use of the central agency, which the National Railway Service corporation, organized by the security owners association, would provide, were adopted, it would not be necessary for the government to make such guarthe government to make such guar-

The ownership of existing equipment is not disturbed. Where unequal ownership of freight cars exists carriers would be required to bring up their quota of cars to meet the country's needs.

The following are headings under which operating details are discussed, and through which the savings are to be brought about:

Reduction of empty car mileage, reduction in first cost of new equipment, saving in financing the purchase of new equipment, reduction in cost of freight car repairs, saving through retirement of weak cars, increase in ton miles per car per day, reduction in switching movements, reduction of damage to cars and lading and consequent delays to movement, saving through improved distribution of cars.

KARNES DISAPPEARS AND FORFEITS BOND

M. H. "Hail the Woman" is insured against rain! And rain, as all theater managers know, is the worst enemy of the box office. By the terms of the policy the Metropolitan theater is guaranteed a total box office receipt of $1,000 between the hours of 3:30 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. on Monday, and a like amount on Saturday for the same period. Should a rainfall of 1-10 of an inch or more damage the business, the Metropolitan will collect from the insurance company the difference between the amount actually taken in through the box office during that time, and $1,000. The United States weather bureau reports as recorded in the office of Weather Expert von Herrman, will be the basis of settlement.

The policy, which is written by the Hartford Fire Insurance company, was handled by the local general insurance firm of MacIntyre, Scott, Knight & Co.

The premium for this ten hours' protection is approximately $200—pretty high as insurance goes, but, not large compared to the cost at which the Metropolitan is bringing the Ince special production to Atlanta.

"The price we are paying for 'Hail the Woman' is so big," said Mf. Patterson, "that we can take for chances "If the little that I have said about the local general insurance from the insurance from the insurance form of macing the Ince special production to Atlanta.

Thursday morning by counsel for Jack J. Worth, indicted as an accessory after the fact to the murder of Irby Walker, it is generally believed that Worth will be re-indicted immediately, as the Fulton county grand jury will be in session.

When the case against Worth was called Thursday morning, Len B. Guillebeau, attorney for the defendant, filed the demurrer to the indictment on the ground that it joined two distinct charges, one a felony and the other a misdemeanor, and that this rendered it void. The felony charge was set out as the accusation that Worth had "harbored and concealed DuPre." It was contended that the indictment then charged a misdemeanor in the accusation that Worth had "aided DuPre in disposing of a diamond ring."

Judge Humphries intimated that the charge as to the ring would have to be eliminated from the indictment, and reserved his opinion until Friday morning.

Worth is charged with being an accessory after the fact to the murder of Walker, Pinkerton detective, by Frank B. DuPre, Peachtree street bandit, when the detective attempted to stop DuPre from escaping with a diamond ring which he had snatched in the Nat Kaiser jewelry store on December 15, last year.

Andy Calhoun's court several weeks ago.

He was charged with deeding property in College Park to W. B. Teague after he had deeded it to J. R. Bennett. The case had been transferred from the superior court.

Goldberg says that he deeded the property to Teague only after it had reverted to him following a quit claim deed being made to him by Bennett. He alleged he had the right to deed it again, as the title had been in his name all the time and all equities had been removed when the deed was made. PAGE SEVEN TRIO ACQUITTED OF ARSON CHARGE BY JURY THURSDAY

Atlanta's unemployment situation was discussed by W. E. Hixon, secretary of the employers' association and special agent for the United States department of labor, at the regular meeting of the secretaries' Club of Atlanta, Thursday afternoon, in the Winecoff hotel. R. M. Striplin, president, presided.

Mr. Hixon said that more applications to hire men were made during January, 1922, than during any month in 1921, and that the requests for labor during the present month have tripled those made during any month last year. He added that the situation is not satisfactory, and advises all outsiders not to come to Atlanta on the basis of the statement made above, as an influx of outsiders searching for jobs would deter progress being made now.

Speeches on the various phases of work accomplished and being accomplished by local organizations were made by other secretaries.

Mrs. W. L. Wilson, her husband, W. L. Wilson, and Mrs. J. Garland, accused jointly of the charge of arson, were acquitted Thursday by a jury in the criminal division of Fulton superior court. answer always is—nothing at all. But to balance this discouraging statement I always write that a great deal can be done to make the profile seem prettier than it really is.

The woman with a poor profile rust be particularly careful of her complexion, which should be flawless, and of her hair, which should be perfectly dressed. In fact she can dress her hair so as to make an ingrowing chin an attractive part of her face! The usual way to do this is to fluff the hair softly around the face and then to draw it into a very high knot at the back. A little experimenting will show each woman the very best way for her to do this. Curiously enough the shape of the evebrows and the length of the eyelashes have a great deal to do with attractiveness of profile. If the eyelashes have a great deal to do with attractiveness of profile. If the eyelashes have a great deal to do with attractiveness of profile. If the eyelashes are kept well shaped by brushing them constantly and by pulling out all superfluous hairs it will help immensely. If the eyelashes are treated with the proper sort of creams and ointments so they will grow long and thick, this, too, will aid the appearance of the side face.

If the cheeks are pink and round with health they, too, will help to make the side view of the face attractive.

Convenient Terms May Be Arranged

York's successful young lawyers, has suggested a year's leave of absence to Sally, hoping that during that time she will learn enough of life to become less a butterfly and more a helpmate. She begins by meeting a childhood friend.

Keith Gilbert, always labeled "Dangerous," while on her way to tea with Barbara Lane, an old-fashioned wife, and Patricia Loring, a modern flapper.

CHAPTER V - "MARRIAGE IS REMNANT SALE."

Sally's start of surprise passed un-noticed, as Barbara was busily pour-ing tea, and Pats Loring was leaning back in a big chair, gazing at her crossed silken ankles as she babbled on.

"I know lots of people who've met

FIRE! FIRE!

What would you do first if some one cried "Fire! Fire!" in your house?

Most of us in theory would do something quite different from what we really do. Usually we act quickly on some impulse that happens to be formost in our minds at the time. The mother seizes her child at all hazaris.

A hard-working novelist has hurried off with his bottle of fink and favorite peer, forgetting all his manuscripts. Some people always think of their clothes first. They seem to have an enormous dread of being caught in religee, so they stop for gloves, and even hastily adjust a veil. And there are always some people who, if frightened by an alarm of fire at meal time, will take one last few seconds to get another mouthful, and then will saze a roll or a cake before hurrying out. The fact is that the impulse of allof us is to seize something when the True, there amooth satins and crepes in the eland they are worn by smart worbut the weavers have set their he the designers and merchants think, at least, the absence of color in some of the fabrics offered is offset by the noyelty of their weaving.

There's instural camel's hair, for example, which delights women who are brought up in the belief that white serge is the one and only weave which provides a thickish white suit. This material is one of the specialties and successes of the season whether in white or in color. It has a slight hair that stiffens the surface to some extent, giving a pleasant contrast to the hard ridges of serge when one wants a suit that clings to the figure. There is much character in this material and it provides the stimulation of a quick query and answer which goes something like this:

"What is the material of your new suit, and do you like it?" Camel's hair. See the hair? It's the last word in white woolen fabries!" 'Really? I must tell my tailor that tomorrow. Can you get it' in colors?"

As women thrive on exciting the curosity and admiration of their kind, they find camel's hair a good fabric. It does not come in alluring colors. They are not as varied as the new soft homespuns which, at last, have the sideep orange shade that women have requested for over a year and a remarkably attractive blue shade in the tone the French call "old," and we call "French."

For gowns, not suits, there is a revival of an old and honorable material

Eor gowns, not suits, there is a revival of an old and honorable material which is still called etamine, although we are apt to call it "cotton canvas." Comparisons.

During the drive uptown Jeanne was silent. The men chatted perfunctorily about the state of the market and she was left to her own thoughts.

Unconsciously she went back to the time she had last ridden uptown in Canby's luxurious car and looked forward to the day when she would have one like it for her own. . . It seemed a far cry now to the days when she had believed that in marrying Barstowe she was dipping her fingers into the Barstowe vaults.

As the car sped up the avenue through the gathering twilight, the arc lights showing murkily through the dusk, she smiled with a trace of bitterness as she watched the hurrying home-going crowds. Canby's words as he had looked into her purse came back to her: "I could find the duplicate of this in the purse of any stenographer hanging to a subway strap at 5 o'clock." . . She looked down at her gown—an imported thing of velvet—and her furs—the sable wrap her father-in-law had given her for a wedding gift—her immaculate white gloves, the French woven hose of gossamer thinness above slippers with buckles of brilliants. The car mirror whowed her a hat with a sweeping goura. . . Oh, yes, she was fine enough, she thought, with a little twisted smile directed toward the crowded avenue!

But the gold mesh bag in her lap held a handful of change and there was no more where that came from. Canby broke in upon her revery.

"I'm trying to persuade Vic here to bring you down to Cuba for the races. Pretty nice at Habana this season—and wet, too, thank the Lord. Like to go?"

Jeanne's eyes traveled swiftly to Barstowe's face. He was frowning. She shook her head.

"We've already been to Habana once this season."

"Oh, honeymooning!" scoffed Canby. "Better go when you're Sane and know what's going on about you."

Barstowe made a sound indicative of impatience.

"I say, Canby, how manw times must I tell you that I'm nursing along a young business? I can't pick up and wander off in the middle of the winter like you chaps who have already arrived."

But Canby only laughed d

paper, looked at her across its spread pages.

"I can scarecly understand how you could say that," he remarked pointedly.

Jeanne flushed at the reminder. She was conscious too of Barstowe's quick glance from Canby to her.

She bit her lip and turned her head to stare out into the traffic again.

A low whistle from Canby brought her gaze back to him.

"Balkan Copper's taken a tumble! Most of Adele Parkinson's money was in that. Hope she got out before the landslide."

Tea Is Given For Mrs. Cooper

For Mrs. Cooper

Mrs. Sydney Perry Cooper, of Henderson, N. C., was entertained at a tea given by Mrs. William H. Kiser at "Knowlwood," her home on Pace's Ferry road, the occasion assembling fifty friends of the honor guest.

Mrs. Kiser's lovely home was most effectively decorated in spring flowers and potted plants.

In the dining room, the table was lace-covered, and adorning the center was a pale green bowl holding full blown peach blossoms, while pink unshaded candles in candlesticks to match the central decoration. Smaller green bowls held pink mints.

It is true that the absence of Jimmy Brewster has decreased its efficiency to a great extent, but if Tech is going to get anywhere in the tourney, she has got to take on new life before then. It may be that this trip will be the very thing needed. Here's hoping.

It looks now as if Jimmy Brewster won't be able to register in the tourney. His leg instead of getting better seems to get worse. It was thought for a while that an operation would be necessary, but now the doctors have hopes that it will heal without such drastic measures. He broke a blood vessel in his leg just above the knee in the Benning game.

The men making the trip are: Dennicke, Jenks and Murphy, forwards; Eckford and Matheson, centers; Staton, Malone and Roane at guards. Captain Brewster will not accompany the team.

When interviewed in his cell, Devane answered only a few questions, and refused to state whether he was in the lynching party or discuss how he was wounded. His left arm and side are filled with buckshot. Harvey's wounds are so serious he could not be moved to the jail, Sheriff Battle stated. It is alleged that both of the men were shot by Jones Sunday night while they were prowling around his yard.

Previously Sheriff Battle had told newspaper men that Jones had made not statement whatever after being found. According to others, how-ever, Jones told in detail of the fight at his house Sunday night, when a crowd of white men, not all of them members of the mob which finally seized and shot him to death at the Lucius Hart farm, came to his home and endeavored to get him to come

The men first wanted a tire patch, saying their car was disabled, the negro is said to have stated. This Jones was unable to give them, he said. He was then asked for a lantern, and replied that he had none. He was then asked for matches, and these were pushed through the door to the men outside. The negro was then commanded to come outside him self, according to his story, and this he refused to do. The whites then attempted to force an entry into the house and Jones slipped out a back

Benny Devane saw him and fired, the bullet passing entirely through Jones' body, the negro said. The negro then fired and Benny Devane's hand and side were riddled with shot, he continued. Henry Harvey went to the rear of the house to help Benny Devane, and called to Jones, thinking he was Devane. Jones raised his gun and Harvey started to run. Jones fired, filling Harvey's back and groin with shot. The weapon he used was a single barreled shotgun, which he carried with him to the home of his relative, living on the Bob Allen place, where he sought protection. After stating that the Federal Reserve system and the Federal Farm Loan banks are unable to meet the pressing needs of agriculture for financial aid, and that the War Finance corporation, although better suited for that purpose than these two foregoing organizations, is so limited by law that it is an incomplete banking system, slow and cumbersome in functioning, L. R. In speaking of the federal farm loan bank, he said that "under our present unfortunate tenant system only one-third of our Georgia farms are cultivated by their owners, two-thirds being operated by tenants whose operations must be financed, and who obviously cannot obtain money through the farm loan banks. But of what value is a farm, either as through the farm loan banks. But of what value is a farm, either as security for a loan from Federal Loan bank, or as a producing plant, unless it can and does support a farmer on it who can operate in som degree of efficiency?"

"In the federal reserve system and the federal loan bank, we have created two great towers of financial strength," continued Mr. Adams, "bu we have so far neglected the very foundation upon which both must rest if they are to endure in continued efficiency, and that foundation is agricultural prosperity made possible by adequate intermediate term agricultur-al financing and an efficient marketing system.

"Sound reasons have been given why it is not wise nor practical to expand the functions of the Federal Reserve banks to include the making of these intermediate length loans, and or these intermediate length loans, and six months paper is the longest maturity which it would be safe to permit the reserve banks to discount. Again, the reserve bank is a commercial bank, all of its officers are commercial bankers, all of their training, education and sympathy are along the edication and sympathy are along the lines of commercial banking, and their handling of agricultural loans as a side line to their commercial activi-ties could not be successful. We must not continue to have an agri cultural Lazarus seeking the crumbs from the table of commerce.

"Again, such an arrangement would bring about still greater concentration of resources and power, a result more harmful than the plan would be beneficial. On the whole, it appears this suggestion must be dismissed as essentially lacking in feasibility. Similar objections exist against the idea of expanding the functions of the federal land banks, with the added objection that its processes are entirely too slow.

IN WHEAT MARKET

Chicago, February 16. — Buyers backed away from wheat today, prices having risen to a new top record for the season. The market closed unsettled, 3-4 to 15-Sc net lower, with May $1.39 1-2 to $1.30 3-4 and July $1.22 3-8 to $1.22 1-2. Corn finished unchanged to 1-2c higher, oats unchanged to 1-2@5-Sc down and provisions at gains varying from 15c to visions at gains varying from 15c $1.30.

General selling characterized the market during the last half of the day, whereas earlier the majority of traders were on the buying side. A substantial advance in Liverpool quotations formed the chief incentive for the upward swing, with which the market here commenced, and which kern up, with unimaized momentum kept up, with unimpaired momentum until May had equaled the highest previous figures on the crop, and July had surmounted the season's record. Unfavorable weather and crop reports from the southwestern part of the doestic winter wheat i region acted as influence. It became clear at this stage, how ever, that the sentiment had under-gone a decided change regarding wheat for at least the time being. Through-out the remainder of the day the course of prices was down grade as a rule, with numerous weak holders at-tempting to unload and with commission houses pressing to sell.

Strength in the corn market was ascribed mainly to reports that the domestic disappearance of corn has been at a rate much beyond what the trade supposed. Both corn and oats touched new high price records for the season, but later were governed largely by the changes in wheat Provisions, like grain, exceeded all ecent high levels. Advances in the ralue of hogs were partly responsible and so, too, was the monthly state-

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS

ON COTTON SITUATION New York, February 16.—(Special.)—Spot sales in Liverpool were ten thousand bales this morning and private advices stated that prices would have been higher if it were not for a rumor that there was a possibility of a general election in England. However, it was thought that this was purely rumor and without real foundation. The effect, nevertheless, was to cause heavy liquitation in our market, bringing a decline of about a deliar a bale and making the market feverish and uneasy during the greater jart of the session. The reduction in the Bank of England discount rate was a favorable factor and it is thought will tend to atimulate trade in England. While the market may hesitate around these prices it is evident there is a great scarcity of contracts so that any improvement in the spot demand could cause much higher prices as these hedges are brought in.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, February 16.—(Special.)—Liquidating sales increased in volume late in selling for a further decline. At one time prices showed net losses of 38 to 38 points. The market closed steady at net losses of 34 to 38 points. We think the market will work lower.

New York, February 16.—(Special.)—The reaction in the price of cotton today came first under the influence of cables from at the advance had spent its force. Furthermore, traders in cotton have been closely watchful over the wheat market and heavy liquidation there brought about a desire to realize profits in this market. Trading was nervous through most of the day and the feeling at the closing tonight is that the reaction will go further until the market digests more of the liquidation when prices were received from the south. Particularly the western belt, of good spot demand. Two sales, one of 10,000 and another of 7,000 bales of spots, were especially mentioned. After all, it is demand for the actual which, coupled with the disposition of holders to sell that will make the market and with the spot demand reavakened, as the sales of 10,000 bales in Liverpool today and the southern advices denote. The price of cotton may be looked upon now with a great deal more confidence than was the case prior to the sharp advance which we have seen recently. ORVIS BROS. & CO.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE.

New York, February 16 .- Realizing operations on rather an extensive scale weakened the cotton market quite sharply today, and in the late quite sharply today, and in the late afternoon, when prices attained their lowest levels, the list was about $1.50 per bale under the previous night's close, with final quotations 34 to 38 points net Jower and the tone barely steady. The west, Wall street and local traders were notably free sellers throughout the day. There was a steady opening to the market, with prices 8 to 18 points lower, and further declines appeared shortly afterward because of weakness in foreign exchange, an irregular opening it he exchange, an irregular opening in the stock market and offerings by spot stock market and offerings by spot houses.

On this setback May dropped to 17.42, at which level it met good support from New Orleans interests based on reports of an increased spot business there, and rallied quietly, the whole market following with an advance that carried the May contract up to 17.68 and July to 17.16, the entire list showing about 10 points rise from the lowest of the forenoon. For the balance of the day and up to the last hour the market was irregular within comparatively marrow regular within comparatively narrow limits. Weakness in the wheat mar-ket had much to do with the late selling in cotton.

A good many southern wires noting an improvement in spot could tions were received during the day, but met with comparatively little response from the market owing to the disposition on the part of longs to reduce their lines. One of the wires from Dallas said the basis was higher owing to Liverpool and New Enger owing to Liverpool and New England inquiry.

Further reports of prospective shimpents of cotton here from the south for delivery on March contract suggested that total deliveries might reach 50.000 bales providing that 40.000 bales already held here are retendered as anticipated. The local cotton goods market was reported to be a little better today.

New York Spots. New York, February 16.—Spot cot-ton quiet; middling 17.90.

DECLINES OCCUR

IN NEW ORLEANS New Orleans, February 16.—Moderately wide reactions were brought about in the cotton market today through realizing sales from the long side, mixed with selling said to come from middle west, from traders who were disappointed over the obstacles in the way of the passage of colder bonus. who were disappointed over the obstacles in the way of the passage of soldier bonus legislation. After a faint show of advancing on the first cail the market fell away, but preserved a steady tone until the afternoon when it turned easy. Lowest grices of the session came on the close, which was at net losses of 28 to 39 points. March closed at 16.40c and October at 15.70c. On the opening March was six points up at 16.85c, but other old crop months were only 1 to 2 points up and the advance tapered off completely by the time the new crops were reached, so that October's first trade was made at a loss of 5 points, carrying the month off to 15.93c. Better cables than due and reports from the spot department of large spot sales after hours yesterday were the support on the opening, but afterwards favorable news had little effect. Claims from Texas and the reduction of the Bank of England rate to 445 per cent all caused much comment, but little buying.

In Inactivity of Public AS RECEIVED BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, THE CONSTITUTION'S LEASED WIRE, AND THE LEASED WIRE OF DOREMUS-DANIEL & CO., MEMBERS NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE, MO. 9 TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA BUILDING.

New York, February 16.—The stock market, during the early part of the early dealings, moved around in a shiftless manner, due to the selling on the part of traders who are discouraged because of the public to take a more prominent part in market operations while on the other hand pool managers are bidding up their favorites from time to time in an effort to stimulate public confidence. This accounts for the irregular fluctuations in prices.

There were numerous issues, however, which were prominent because of their advances. United States Steel common, the old time stock market leader, for instance, advanced to new high records for the current year. This was based on the continued optimism of the trade papers as to conditions in the industry and to the reports from the west that pig iron sellers in the Chicago district have advanced their price

Mexican Petroleum shot forward at a brisk pace and sold up to a new high for the year. This stock has advanced steadily since it was announced early in the week that the company has brought in five new wells, one of which will prove to be the largest well in the world. This stock has been subject to attack from speculative traders for some time and as a result of this a fairly large short interest was created. The "insiders" aware of this, decided to squeeze the short, and the advance was due to the catching of stop loss orders on the rise.

Rails continued to hold firm as did the shipping shares. It is expected that the president's subsidy plan will be announced within a short time. Lasker and members of the senate finance committee are said to have agreed to the details.

Grain market started the day with new high record prices for the year but reacted in the late dealings on profit-taking. Sterling continues to hold firm and money rates are little changed.

Production of Cotton To Be Restricted in 1922

BY J. RUSSELL PORTER

President of the Southern Fertilizer Association. The main reason why cotton production in 1922 will be restricted will be the inability of the cotton farmer to obtain his usual extension Restriction of credits is the natural outcome of two unprofitable years in cotton production. The first year's reverses came as a result of the "deflation." The second year's difficulties resulted from three causes: The inability of the farmer to buy sufficient fertilizers, a poor season and heavy boll weevil damage.

Many farmers owe their fertilizer accounts for both 1920 and 1921.

Many farmers owe their fertilizer accounts for both 1920 and 1921.

These with other obligations hanging over the farmer, of course, stand in the way of the usual extension of credits to him.

Therefore, since it is obvious that the cotton farmer is not able to buy his usual amount of fertilizers it follows that he cannot make his usual yield per acre.

As a result of the farmer's experience in 1921 when he used less subsidiaries. It has an authorized his usual yield per acre.

As a result of the farmer's experience in 1921 when he used less than the ordinary amount of fertilizer, he is now convinced of the absolute necessity of fertilizers applied liberally in order to raise cotton profitably under boll weevil conditions.

Those who are familiar with the attitude of the southeastern farmers know that they are much disturbed by the severe damage the boll weevil has done. Some are declaring that they will not grow cotton this year. Others who are willing to fight it out with the boll weevil have shown a disposition to take the advice of agricultural leaders both as to reduction in acreage and methods of weevil control. While the farmers realize the absolute need of fertilizers there will be many who will not be able to get the necessary credit. too, many of the southern manufacturers have produced very little fer-tilizers this year, therefore, if the demand should be greater than it was last season, in my opinion, there is not in sight a sufficient quantity on hand to supply this demand. Nor, will the influence of the boll weevil on cotton acreage, from all indications, be limited to the southeast. Oklahoma is reported by the government boll weevil authorities to have suffered more damage from the boll weevil in 1921 than any other state. It was Oklahoma's first severe experience with the pest. In that state it is expected that history will repeat itself and that there will be a reduction in cotton

Parts of Texas and Arkansas suffered severely from the weevil in 1921, and there has followed a state of discouragement which heretofore under such conditions has meant a decrease in cotton acreage Fertilizer manufacturers as a whole are on record in favor of ding credit preferably to the farmer who will hold down his cotton acreage, and who will grow food and feed crops for the needs of London, February 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Bank of England today reduced its rate of discount to 4½ per cent.

The reduceion of the bank rate was primarily made possible by the recent large reduction in the government's floating debt and currency circulation, which contributed to the plethora of funds in the money market, permitting the placing of treasury bills at a lower rate and the suspension of the 5 per cent bond issue.

For a long time the bank's minimum rate has been out of proportion to the market rates. The advance in New York exchange, assisted by larger investment of American funds here, removed some of the adverse conditions in the financial situation.

Discount rates have been remarkably weak during the last few days and only a slight adjustment will be necessary to meet the revised minimum rate.

The discount rate of the Bank of England has been 5 per cent aince November 3, last, when it was reduced from the 5½ per cent rate established on the preceding July 21. Today's action was forecast in a London dispatch last night in which it was pointed out that the treasury had suspended temporarily its issue of 5 per cent treasury bonds.

New York, February 18.—(By the United News.)—Averages of the twenty leading railroad stocks for the day were 77.50, an advance of .01. For the twenty leading industrials the average was 83.98, a decrease of .11.

Ralls were used to rally the market around midday after a morning of quiet and somewhat hesitating trading. The strength in the ralls was about as usual, they moved ahead slowly. Apparently there is no intention of using "strong arm" methods to mark up the rall situation wfile in need of substantial improvement is fundamentally strong enough to warrant confidence.

In many quarters President, Harding's letter on the bonus bill was considered to have disposed of the question for the present unless congress adopts a sales tax. The opposition to this has been very strong in congress.

United States Steel continues to stand by itself among the steels and we doubt the wisdom of general purchasing of the independent steel stocks in the belief that the strength in United States Steel will carry the whole group upward.

We do not believe the general tone of the market has been impaired by the weakness in a few special issues. We believe there has been quite an increase in short calling during the past few days and especially today.

Bonds.

New York, February 16.—Liberty issues were the active features of today's bond market. Heavy buying, especially of the third and fourth 41/2s was ascribed to the growing conviction that the government probably will adopt some means other than a new bond issue to meet proposed soldier bonus payments. Liberty first 4s rose almost 31 per $100 in the first half of the seasion, the first 41/2s gaining 70 cents. Other domestic bonds, notably speculative rails, were steady to strong. mercial and industrial developments made no perceptible contribution to the forward movement.

Lively interest was displayed in the political situation. Traders evidently were of the opinion that the opposing views of the administration and congressional leaders would make for delay in the promotion of tax legislation.

Reduction of the Bank of England rate from 5 to 41-2 per cent. brought that rate to the level prevailing here and at other important federal reserve centers.

Withdrawal of $66,000,000 of deposits from local banks for treasury payment had no effect on the free offerings of call money. A 4 per cent. Tate ruled throughout the session in the open market, and this was shaded to 33-4 in private loans.

Time funds were quoted unaltered at 43-4 to 5 per cent. A few loans for round amounts on high grade securities extending into the middle of the year were reported, however, at the lower quotation.

United States Steel, General Electric and several of the rails, including Lehigh Valley, were among the strongest stocks. Independent steels eased with motors, rubbers and some of the shippings, chemicals and sundry specialties.

Exchange on London failed to reflect the lower bank rates, easing 13-4 cents from its recent high. Continental rates were mixell, aside from Dutch, Swedish and Norwegian bills, these showing further strength. The Montreal discount at this center was at its lowest in over two years.

Nance O'Neil has long been America's foremost emotional actress, but it had seemed that the fates had decreed that she was never to have a vehicle testing the limitations of her genius. In "The Passion Flower," lacinto Benaverta has written a play as simple as "Cinderella." and simple as "Cinderella."

The play is short, as to acting time. The marvel is that tensity of situation, depending largely on appeal to thought rather than thought of action, could be developed to speedily. But so infinite is the artistry of the presentation that the auditor is gripped within affecen minutes of the rise of the curtain and the grip is ever tightened until the last denoument that is actually awe-inspiring in its tremendous quality.

Her work naturally overshadows everything else in the performance, but withal she is excellently supported. Alfred Hickman plays a repressed, self-effacing, but always convincing "Esteban." His confession was powerfully done and his climatic work was full of dash, fire, and every other quality that will make that scene live long in the memories of every person who has seen the play. Hubert Wilke, H. H. McCollum and Howard Miller and Miss Dorothy Howert Wilke, H. H. McCollin and Howard Miller and Miss Dorothy Ellin lived up to the high emotional standards set by the star, while fine character bits were done by Miss Maude Durand and Miss Isabel

"The Passion Flower" is easily the biggest thing presented this season to Atlanta theatergoers. No lover of dramatics can afford to miss it. FUZZY WOODRUFF.

(At the Lyrie.)

Nola St. Clair and company, in a fantastie comic adventure called "Tillie." headline a highly entertaining bill of vaudeville at the Lyric for the latter part of the week, the act being featured by some excellent singing and dancing. Because his sweetheart reads and talks continuously of pirates, the man in the act abducts her and carries her to a pirate cave he has discovered, and the situations are as interesting as the number is good.

Another act that gained approval was that offered by Lloyd and Christie, "Two Southern Gentlemen," appearing in a line of sure-fire

In all the bigness of the thing, Miss O'Neil stands out gigantic. Her voice itself can stir every feeling known to man. She loves and the audience loves. She fears and the audience fears. She doubts and the audience doubts. She seeks to punish and the audience seeks to punish. She would shield and the audience would shield and the audience would shield and the audience forgives and then in that gloriously terrible climax, she hates, and the audience hates.

And even as the peasant mind she portrays sees a spiritual power affecting mundane lives, so does the audience feel that occult force working on their own sensibilities.

Her work naturally overshadows everything else in the performance, but withal she is excellently supported. Afterd Hickman plays a repress-

"Melody Land." the topliner attraction on the bill at Loew's Grand theater for the last half of the week is a pleasing musical sketch presented by six pretty girls. The act is beautifully staged and costumed and the young ladies all have good voices. One member of the company is an excellent toe dancer and made a distinct impression on Thursday night's audlence.

One of the best character sketches ever offered in vaudeville is "The Toll Bridge." It is presented by James Grady, an artist of many years' experience on the legitimate Toll Bridge." It is presented by James Grady, an artist of many years' experience on the Jegitimate stage. There is just the right mixture of comedy and pathos in the playlet to make it a success. Mr. Grady, who has the leaiding role, played in Atlanta thirty years ago with James O'Neil at the old Bijou Opera house on Marietta street.

Another old-timer on the bill is Colonel Mark Diamond, eighty-three years old and still as agile a dancer of society dances as one will find in any ball room. Colonel Diamond is assisted in his entertaining offering by his granddaughter.

Other acts are Altina Carbone, an oddity in laughter and song that has a clever surprise feature and Lehr and Belle, the former, Lew Lehr, being a nut comedian of the most violent type.

On the screen is "Fifty Candles," taken from the Saturday Evening Post story by Eart Derr. Biggers and featuring Marjorie Daw.

Sousa's Band.

Coming to Auditorium.)

"Every artist, and especially musicians, have pet superstitions," said Harry Askin. manager of the big Sousa band, who was in Atlanta this week. "John Philip Sousa has one of the most peculiar of all.

"He isn't worried by a cat running across the stage, and he doesn't believe a yellow clairnet is a hoodoo, aithough the bandsmen's antipathy to that universally hated instrument keeps them out of the organization. But he insists upon wearing a brand new pair of white kid gloves at every concert. He ordered 300 pairs before leaving New York, paying $5 a pair for them, and it is the duty of the librarian who distributes the music to see that those gloves, unsullied by human touch, are ready for each concert. Mr. Sousa won't have them cleaned for second use, but gives them to his musicians after one wearing. He insists that every time he has worn a pair of gloves twice he has had bad luck; the cornetist will get a split lip or the bass drum will epring a leak, or somethink. He takes no chances."

John Philip Sousa and his new white gloves will appear at both concerts Monday at the Auditorium, for the "March King" never delegates his leadership to another. If he cannot conduct, there is no concert.

a, "Hail the Woman," is com the Metropolitan theater nex ing to the Metropolitan theater next week.

Illustrative of that ingrained no-bility of character which has given woman strength to shelter the flame of life throughout the centuries, "Hall the Woman" is a "human epic"—the greatest work of C. Gardner Sullivan, famous American dramatist.

"Hearts of the World."

(Next Week at Forsyth.)

D. W. Griffith's master production, "Hearts of the World," which is declared to surpass his former triumphs, "Way Down East," "Birth of a Nation," and "The Fall of Babylon" is announced for a special engagement at the Forsyth theater, next week.

Mr. Griffith's standing today, as the unrivalled peer of producers, has added materially to the importance of this event and promises to afford an engagement entirely unique.

T. P. A. CONDUCTING MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Macon, Ga., February 16 .- (Special.)-T. S. Logan, of St. Louis, national secretary of the Travelers' Protective association, and Ferdinand Neuberger, of Savannah, state president for Georgia, today conducted a whirlwind campaign here for new members for the local post. They arrived this morning, and accompanied by a delegation of members from the local post, made a tour of the com-mercial houses of the city having traveling salesmen, and during the day secured a number of new mem-

TO RECEDE TODAY

Augusta, Ga., February 16.—(Special.)—With the river stage here early tonight at thirty-three feet and about at a standstill, the weather bureau forecast that it would begin to recede tomorrow. Negro houses in Hamburg, across the river on the Carolina side, are tonight standing in water from three to four feet deep. Before the levee was built a river at this stage would inundate a large portion of the city, but a thirty-three foot stage barely laps the base of the levee.

TO AID NEEDY IN MONROE COUNTY

Juliette, Ga., February 16.—(Special.)—Saturday will be observed as "bundle day" at Forsyth by the committee appointed by the Woman's club to take charge of the Associated Char-ity work in the city. The bundles will be collected by the Boy Scouts and distributed where needed. The Forsyth Woman's club is planning to aid all people in the county who are in need of food, clothing and other

CIVIL ENGINEERS FAVOR ZONE PLAN

Mr. Whitten later came to the real estate meeting and answered questions relative to the plan. The speakers urged both organizain favor of the plan, stating that the city is in dire need of a zoning system that it will solve many seri-ous problems, that it will make the city more beautiful, and will cause increase in the value of local real Opposition Is Expected. Charles L. Green at the real estate board meeting asked Mr. Otis if there would be any opposition made to the zoning plan at the ordinance com-mittee hearing. Mr. Otis replied that opposition of some sort was naturally expected.

"Under the zoning plan," declared Mr. Otis, "the commercial district will extend to Kimball street, one block north of North avenue, on West Peachtree, and that has caused re-monstrance from people on West Peachtree who desire the commercial development of West Peachtree to extend to Tenth street. The com-mission thinks that West Peachtree street north of Kimball street should be used for residences, but if it is be used for residences, but if it is necessary the plan can be modified to allow the commercial development of West Peachtree to Tenth street.

We expect objections of that char-acter and if forced to, we can change our plan. One or two such instances have come to our attention. Mr. Otis further stated that the contention that the zoning plan is unconstitutional in that it prevents people from constructing on their property any kind of structure they desire is in error and pointed out the fact that the plan has been upheld in the highest courts of New York and Massachusetts. He said that the zon-ing plan of a southern city had been declared unconstitutional because it declared unconstitutional because it was class legislation, prohibiting colored people from entering white sections but allowing white people to enter colored sections. "This discrimination was corrected and the law declared constitutional later on," he said. "The Atlanta plan will no more allow a white person to build a home for his Chica." own use in a colored zone than it will allow a negro to do it in a white zone."

Tells of Start of Plan. Mr. Otis told how the chamber of commerce and the county of Fulton had endeavored some years ago to incorporate a zoning plan in Atlanta, but that it was temporarily unsuccessful. He said the real work on the plan started when Mayor Key backed which have been taken from them in recent years. He pointed to the act of the Georgia railroad commission in canceling the surcharge as an indication of what may be expected when the state commissioners have more authority.

Mr. Logan plans to attend the conference of the American Hotel association in Chicago, March 14. in an effort to secure an adjustment of hotel rates for traveling men.

Greater Values in USED CARS Than Ever Before

Fictitious values have been written off the books. Owners and dealers have taken their losses. This leaves the used car purchaser with all the advantage. He can step into a salesroom; pick out a good used car at a price that is unbelievably low. The main thing he wants to consider is the firm he does business with. The value of a used car depends upon the firm selling it. Our used car customers are satisfied customers in every case.

Prosperity is a State of Mind

If you will just sit down and deplore the dull times, you need not expect paying results, but if a man will exercise initialive, tact, and the determination to go after business, there will be no doubt whatever that dull times with him will be only a hearsay. Of course he must have some judgment too and that is shown when he uses nice engraved stationery.

Call up lvy 721, and ask for the city salesman for J. P. Stevens Engraving Co., he will impart to you a few business points that are worth knowing.

TABLISHED-42-YEARS

THE members of this concern have spent their entire lives in this profession. In fact, we have rounded but forty-two years of service in this community. Our funeral directing establishment and equipment have grown with the city and each year we have made the necessary changes consistent with the demands and necessities of the community's needs along this line of work.

During these many years we have learned that the greatest asset to this work was efficient service, and each year taught us something new in the way of service. Details small in themselves, but meaning big things in the aggregate and gratefully acceptable to those whom we serve, are the strong links in Patterson service.

We beg to call attention to the new ambulance just added to our motor equipment—an ambulance designed and built with one purpose in view, to give the

Hope school before the opening of the next term was stressed in a resolution adopted at the regular monthly meeting of the North Side Improvement club, held recently.

The membership plans a complete census of the section surrounding the school for the purpose of creating a community spirit. At an early date the club will hold a joint meeting with the Peachtree Road Woman's club for the purpose of securing cooperation in the furtherance of a number of important civic developments.

On North Ponce de Leon avenue we have one lot with a frontage of 100 feet, running back 800 feet; a superb building site facing the parkway. We can offer this at a special price of $7,000. There is nothing else in the entire Druid Hills development any finer than this choice building site.

If you are planning to build a home at any time, buy your lot now. Authorities differ as to the cost of building in the future, but they are unanimous in their judgment that the price of building lots will go up.

MONEY FOR MORTGAGES.

"Nothing Better Than a Georgia Mortgage"

Investors in thirty-four (34) states of the Union and four (4) Foreign Countries are constantly buying good Georgia mortgages through us. This list of investors is being constantly increased by new ones, both local and non-resident.

We are specifically requested by investors to submit applications for loans secured by city and suburban real estate for the following odd amounts—the money available within the next two weeks: $5,000.00, $4,500.00, $2,500.00 (for a term of ten years), $2,000.00 and $650.00. We invite all owners of city and suburban real estate who can use these amounts to consult us at once.

We constantly invite the most conservative class of both horrowers and lenders to avail themselves of our service, based on an experience of twenty-five (25) years, during which time no investor has ever lost a dellar of either principal or interest on any mortgage negotiated through us.
